Hints for a Good Reading

The highest and best communication...

1. Try to put your mind at ease and relax before you seek a medium's help. This creates a better atmosphere for the reading and makes it easier for Spirit to make contact.

2. Let the medium proceed in their own manner. Don't expect your most pressing issues to be discussed at once.

3. Spirit provides evidence of identity in many different ways. It may be by name, description, relationships, incidents, etc. Be willing to verify such evidential information so the medium can proceed to any message that is to be given.

4. Let the medium know when they are correct. Don't attempt to confuse them. Be fair.

5. Arguing or wanting things done your way makes it difficult for the medium to function effectively and may lead to failure.

6. Something may make more sense by the end of the reading, or understanding of the message may come at a later time—after you have had a chance to think about it. So do not be quick to say "no" to what is given by the medium.

7. The true success of a reading is not always measured by prophecy, but by the guidance it provides. Prediction is possible, but once the message is delivered, you have the power to change coming events.

8. A good reading should explain the philosophy of harmonious living and the continuity of life. Mediumship is not fortune telling.

9. If you wish to ask a question, or questions, meditate on them in advance of the meeting. Give Spirit ample time to get an answer. No Spirit claims to have an answer on the spur of the moment. After all, you are communicating with people.

10. Don't try to prolong a reading. The medium realizes when the Spirit entities are gone. You are always welcome to come again.

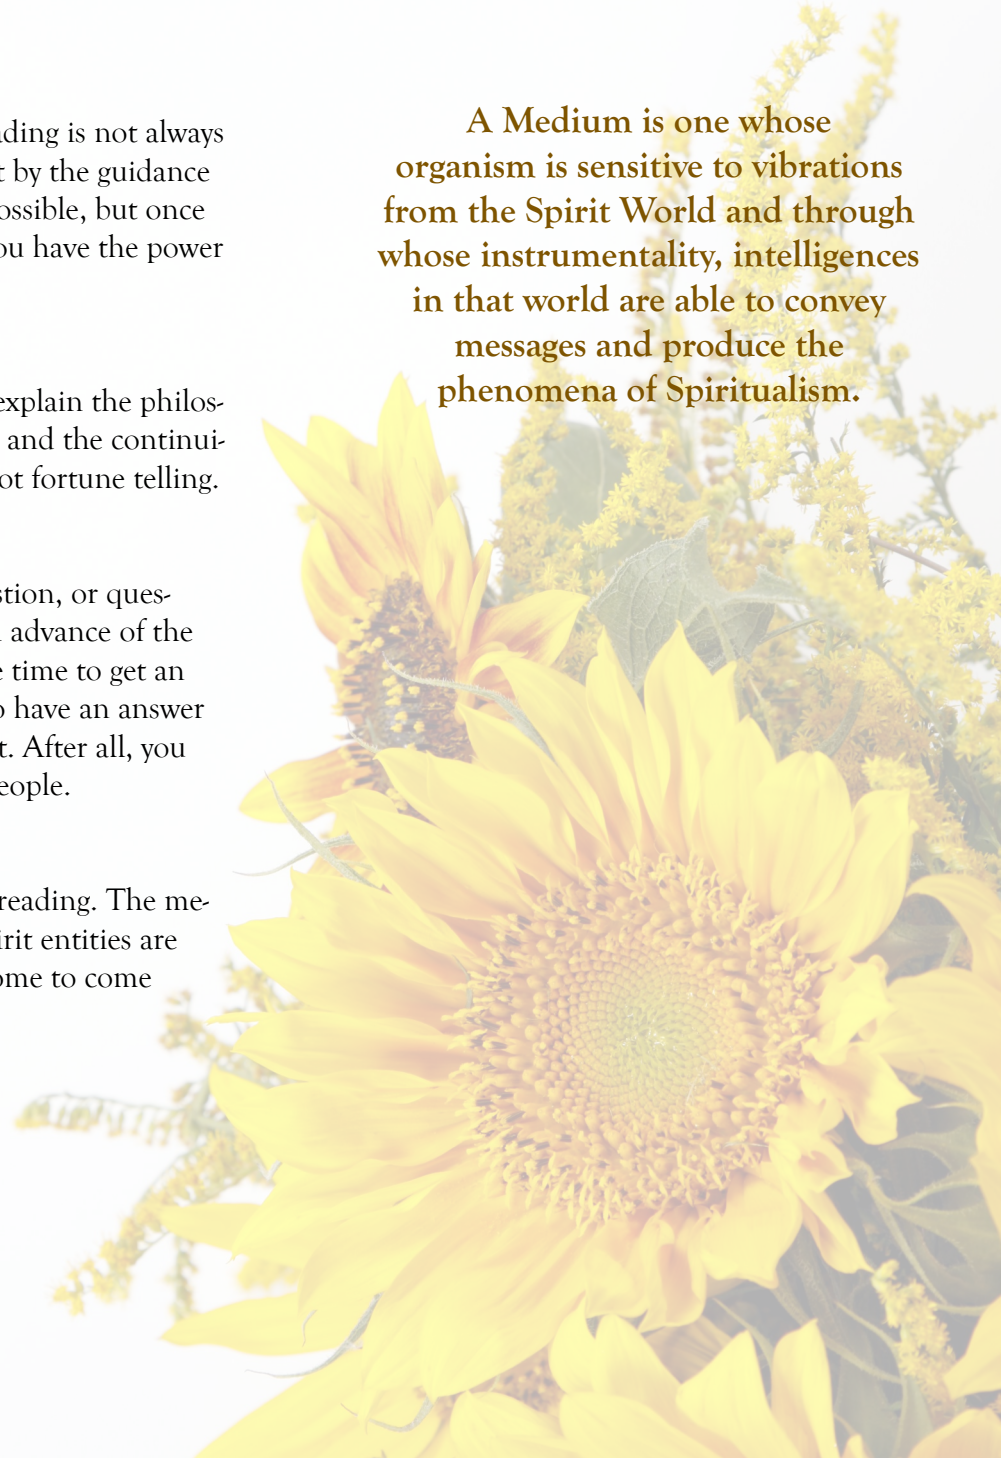
Definition


A Medium is one whose organism is sensitive to vibrations from the Spirit World and through whose instrumentality, intelligences in that world are able to convey messages and produce the phenomena of Spiritualism.
